Mission Statement:

To provide contracting expertise to each director during the acquisition of services and commodities, and to manage the quality of contract preparation, execution, and control within HQ Cadet Command.

Problems In The Past

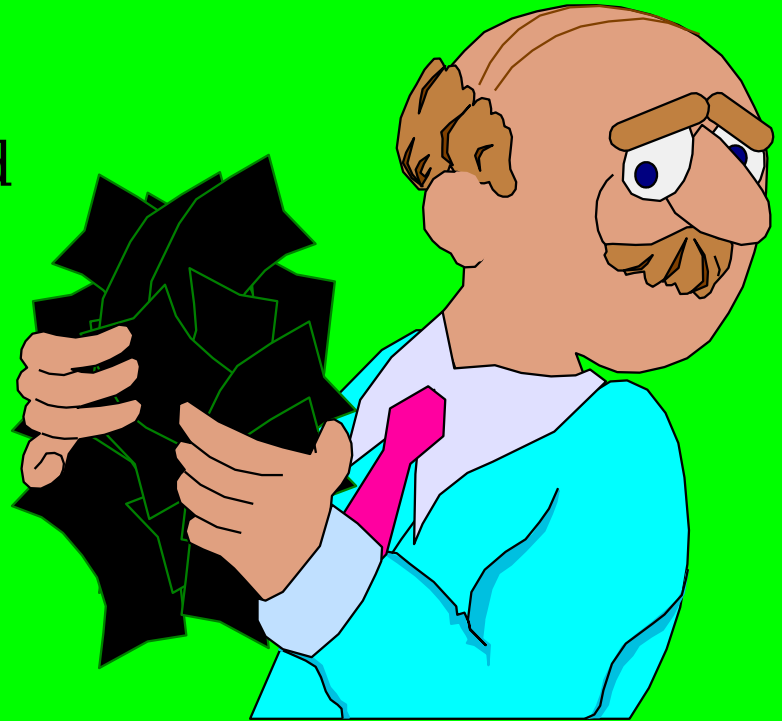

- Directorates had to task employees with contracting duties in addition to their already busy schedule.
- Employees had to quickly learn about contracting-not an easy task!
- When an employee retired or transferred, someone new inherited the contracting duties!

Additional Past Problems

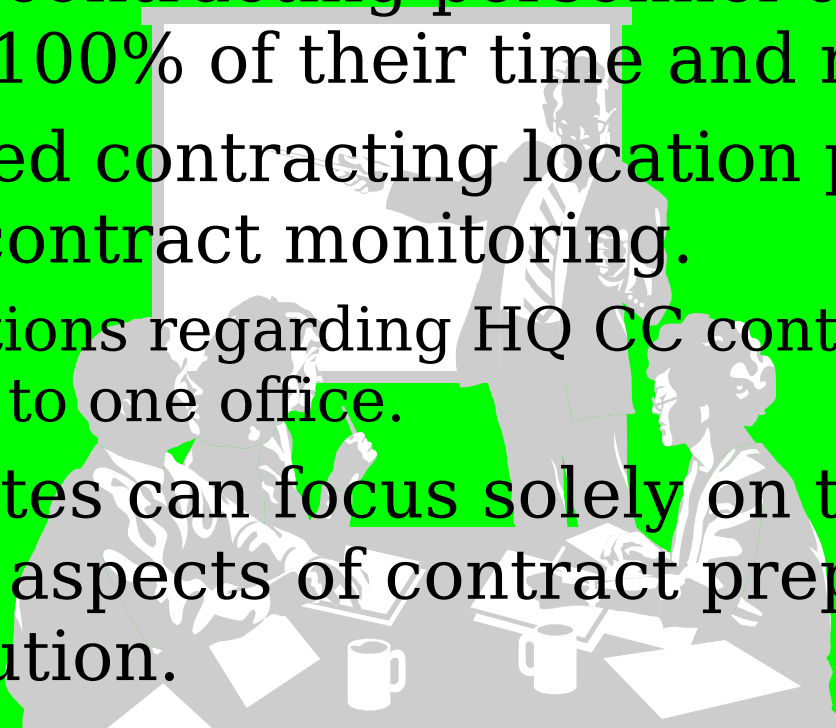

- Contracting expertise was limited.
- Contracts were difficult to monitor with a decentralized contracting scheme.
- TRADOC contracting agencies regularly complained about the consistency and quality of HQ Cadet Command acquisition packages.

Benefits Of The Contracting Team

- ✓ Full time contracting personnel can dedicate 100% of their time and resources.
- ✓ Centralized contracting location provides for easy contract monitoring.
 - ♦ All questions regarding HQ CC contracts directed to one office.
- ✓ Directorates can focus solely on the technical aspects of contract preparation and execution.

Additional Benefits

- ✓ Team members can prepare many different types of acquisition packages.
 - ✦ Lessons learned can reduce the time required to prepare and coordinate new acquisition packages. All contract packages are reviewed and approved by the Acquisition Team and Legal Office before submission to contracting agencies.
 - ▢ Team members can facilitate the process of working with contracting agencies.

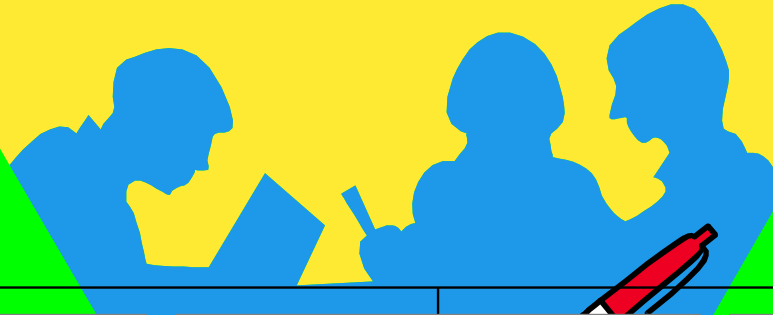

Some Current Contracts

- Enhanced Skills Training Program
- CCIMS Help Desk
- SOCC Pre-Command Course
- Alternative Staffing
